The Tellington TTouch is a way of working with dogs and other animals that incorporates gentle handling techniques and guided physical exercises. These are designed to bring about changes in the animal on a physical, emotional and behavioural level by improving the animal's coordination and balance, reducing stress and helping them to learn new ways of responding. It can help with a variety of problems particularly those related to fear and reactivity, and can improve the dog's general well-being.

At the workshop you will hear more about the work and learn how to do some of the ttouches. It is an informal, relaxed day where you can have the opportunity to practise with each other and with your dogs during the day. This will enable you to take away some practical skills that you can then continue with at home.

It is important that the dogs you bring will be able to settle in the hall with other people and dogs. If you are unsure about bringing your dog then please ring us before the workshop (phone Julie 07747 754759). If you wish to attend without a dog that is fine as the emphasis of the day is on you the handler learning the skills.
